3	Present appeal cases for AD – ADMD, DoPE The three appeals against administrative sanctions, as reported in Annexure II, were reviewed.	The Commission directed the following: - Considered the appeal by Kinley Wangmo, Extension Supervisor II, Phangyul, of Wangdue Phodrang Dzongkhag, and approved the waiver. It was noted that the declarant had submitted the Annual Asset Declaration instead of Vacation of Office (VoO) declaration while separating. - Also approved the waiver for Tshoki, Administrative Assistant of Gyalsung Infrastructure, noting that the non-declaration resulted from an institutional procedural lapse in the agency's relieving process. The Commission further directed that a cautionary notice be issued to the Asset Declaration Administrator (ADA) of the agency. - Did not approve the appeal by Thinley, Executive Director of Nazhoen Lamtoen. The Commission noted that the declarant was a repeat offender, having previously been penalized for late declaration. It was observed that repeated reminders, including personal communication and email notifications, had been issued. The Commission further noted that the justifications provided were not sufficient to warrant a waiver and emphasized that the purpose of the administrative sanction regime is to ensure compliance and uphold the integrity of the Asset Declaration system through consistent enforcement.

	The approved budget for FY 2026-27, comprises a current grant of Nu. 19.966 mn, including Nu. 3.35 million for activity-based current activities, and a capital budget of Nu. 42.67 mn, of which Nu. 5.50 mn was allocated as operational capital. The Commission was further apprised of the Finance Committee's concerns regarding the proposed apportionment of Nu. 2.50 mn from the operational capital budget for the drawing and design of the Tashiling Housing Colony. While the Finance Committee acknowledged that the absence of any budget provision for the design could impede the timely initiation of the project, it also noted that such an apportionment could be inconsistent with the MoF's budget notification governing the use of the operational capital grant. The Commission was also apprised that the procurement of laptops should be accorded the highest priority, considering their critical operational importance.	laptops, given their critical operational importance. Accordingly, the proposed Nu. 2.50 mn was directed to be reallocated for laptop procurement, increasing the total allocation for laptops to Nu. 4.814 mn. With regard to the Tashiling Housing Colony, the Commission noted that while the project remains an important priority, undertaking the complete design is not feasible during the current financial year due to budget constraints. However, noting NHDCL's estimate that Nu. 0.70 mn would be sufficient to prepare the conceptual drawing and preliminary cost estimates, the Commission decided that the immediate priority could be to determine the indicative cost of the project through the preparation of the conceptual drawing. Accordingly, the Commission directed that the required Nu. 0.70 mn be reappropriated from savings identified during/before the Mid-Term Review.
