| 1. | Seek direction on sharing of information to consultant regarding installation of biometric- SS & ICTSHead of the SS apprised that the consultant has completed the installation of biometric and in order to operationalize has requested following information of employees:● Name;● Employee ID;● Nature of employment (Regular or contract);● Gender;● Date of joining;● Department/Division; and● Date of birth | To this, the Commission directed not to share all the details requested by the consultant. However, opined on the need to maintain two layers of data; one for the consultant which will have only basic information (name, gender and CID Number) and the other which will be handled by ACC containing more details such as Departments/Divisions/Services of employees so as to ease report generation in future. As for the consultant, just to share the Name; Gender; CID. In addition, two types of cards will be produced, one for the employees and other for the visitors.Secondly, the Commission directed SS to ensure that the switch box on the first floor to be either locked or relocated inside the floor so that people don't turn it off and deactivate biometric.While infrastructure can be one thing, diligently complying to the protocols can only ensure security. Thus, the Commission reminded all to follow the protocols strictly. |
| 2. | Presentation on AD draft verification protocol- ADMD*The Division apprised that since the implementation of ADS, only DA verification was done as of now. # ASSET & LIABILITY VERIFICATION PROTOCOL

Background

Public servants as custodians of public resources should ensure that the resources are used for the benefit of the people. Asset declaration is an important corruption prevention and a public accountability tool. Declaration of income, asset and liabilities ensures that the custodians of public resources lead a lifestyle that is within their lawful means.

Although the need to declare assets and liabilities existed within the civil service for a long time, it, however, became legally binding and effective only in 2006 with the enactment of the Anti-Corruption Act of Bhutan 2006. Public servants, their spouse(s) and dependents of all organizations that use public resources are required to declare their assets and liabilities.

The efficacy of asset declaration lies in its verification. Mere collection of asset declaration information without verification becomes a bureaucratic chore. It is, therefore, crucial that the authenticity of AD information is verified objectively, effectively and transparently. A statistically representative sample size of declarants will have to be selected based on a clear rationale. The findings will be the basis for enforcing sanctions as defined by the Anti-Corruption Act 2011 and the asset declaration rules in force. An effective verification process would not only prompt greater compliance but also lead to the establishment of an effective network of information sharing infrastructure supported by a strong database, ultimately discouraging public servants from abusing public resources. Transparency International also confirms that content verification of AD and its access to the public has reduced corruption.

Verification of asset declaration is a time-consuming process. There are approximately 26,500 public servants who file their asset declarations to various agencies. The Anti-Corruption Act of Bhutan 2011 will require only those public servants in vulnerable posts and professions to declare their assets and liabilities. As of now, the CADA administers 700 schedule I public servants' asset declarations. The administration of other public servants', Schedule II asset declarations is decentralized to the agencies. Verification will be based on a statistically representative number of asset declarations and a transparent verification protocol. An effective verification will demand a robust database and a smooth information sharing network.

Asset Declaration Verification

Verification shall be based on two parameters, "completeness" and "correctness". Completeness is defined in the context of this protocol as submission of complete form, complete in all respects including filling up of mandatory fields. Correctness is defined as authenticity of the information provided by a declarant. The authenticity of the information shall be cross-checked with the custodians of such information.

1. Asset Verification Frequency

The declarations shall be verified annually in June.

2. Sampling and Sample Size for Asset Declaration Verification

A statistically representative percentage shall be sampled from total declarations based on:

(i) Vulnerability of professions:

Information from the cases under investigation by the Department of Investigation will be used to determine the most vulnerable sector (s) to identify vulnerable public servants to be included in the "verification sample". Likewise, other criteria viz. open source dasource high value/budget developmental activities with paramount discretionary authority will be looked into determining vulnerable public servants whose AD will have to be verified to detect discrepancies in the ADs filed within ADS with what is being actually owned by the public servant (s).

(ii) Red flags (DA) automated by the AD system:

In order to fulfill the important objective of detecting and preventing illicit enrichment by public officials, the Asset Declaration System (ADS) is designed to flag off any cases of Disproportionate Asset (DA). But all DA cases flagged by the system may not necessarily constitute an illicit enrichment by individuals. DA cases could result due to various reasons. Therefore, it is important to verify and validate the cause of DA. Verification of the DA cases is an important component of the ADS and is a means to bringing things to a logical conclusion.

Disproportionate Asset (DA) is a term used to describe a situation where an individual's total expenditure (outgoing) is more than his/her total legal sources of income (incoming) in a current year.

The DA cases flagged out by the system will be compiled to determine an appropriate sample size. Factors such as high negative DA, huge number of complaints against agencies shall be used to finalize the "verification sample".

In order to calculate the DA, the concept of outflow and inflow of cash has been used which is shown in Table 1. The following components from the Asset Declaration are what constitutes inflow (incoming) and outflow (outgoing) of cash.

DRAFT

Table 1: Components from AD used to calculate DA

| Incoming cash flow during period | Outgoing cash flow during period |
|---|---|
| Balance Cash in hand (including foreign exchange), bank deposits and money lent as of 31st December of the previous year of the reporting period. Eg.300,000 | Savings [Cash in hand (including foreign exchange), bank deposits and repayment] of the reporting year. |
| + Salary from the employment Nu. 100,000 | + New Immovable properties(Land, building/house/flat |
| + Consultancy/Business | + New securities (shares and stocks) |
| + Rental | + New vehicles/machineries |
| + Interest earned (Personal lending and Fixed deposits) | + New Convertible assets (work of art, jewelry, etc.) |
| + Dividends from shares and stocks | + New Virtual Asset |
| + Hire charges | + New commercial activities and intellectual properties |
| + sale of cash crops | + Educational expenditure |
| + Sale of property | + House rent |
| + TA/DA / Mileage | + Insurance |
| + Others (donations, sale of gifts, lottery win, income from outside position, etc.) | + Loans repayment (personal and banks) |
| + Loan (received from the banks and borrowed from private individuals) | + Other (travel, purchase of computer, Smartphone, vacation, donations, wedding, maintenance, medical treatment, gifts, religious rituals etc) |
| | + Minimum daily subsistence for the period (automatically added by the system) |
| = Total Incoming | = Total Outgoing |

The following is the formula used to calculate DA as per the Asset Declaration Rules (ADR) 2017.

Total Incoming cash flow during period – Total Outgoing cash flow during period

DA formula is shown in Annexure 1

3. Asset Declaration Verification Process

The following steps shall broadly guide the verification process as shown in Figure 1.

3.1 Process of Actual Verification / Field Verification of AD

1. Get access to the declaration of the individual using his/her CID number.
2. Cross-checking information provided in asset declarations

The information provided in the asset declarations shall be cross checked with the records maintained by relevant agencies. While the current ADS has integrated with various external databases viz as e-sakor (NLCS), e-ralis (RSTA), Zest (RCSC), BCRS (DCRC, MoHCA), Immigration Information and Monitoring System (DoI, MoHCA), Thromde Revenue Management System, Ramis (DRC), e-PEMS (DPA), Industry Information System (DoT, MoEA), few databases especially to do with liquid asset with financial institutions, companies, security exchange, etc have not been integrated. Therefore, cross checking with the records maintained by those relevant agencies shall have to be done to detect any discrepancies between the information in those agencies and the one declared within ADS. Moreover, wherever feasible and required, additional cross checking of the data integrity of those datas at the agencies (including the ones which are integrated with ADS) will have to be done for any incorrectness/outdated information, especially the value of the asset via current market value "valuation process".

3. Seeking clarification or additional information

Clarification or additional information may be sought from the covered person concerned when the information provided in his/her AD filed is not clear or complete.

In order to authenticate/validate the individual's explanation/clarification, relevant documents may be sought if felt necessary during the process of verification.

Clarification and additional information may be sought through phone calls or e-mails while relevant documents may be provided through e-mails. However, if there is a presence of strong or clear red flags, it may be important not to alert the individual by seeking clarification or getting additional information and relevant documents.

3.2 Process for Verification of Disproportionate Asset (DA)

The following is the DA verification framework and explains the broad steps in the verification process to guide the verification of the DA cases.

The verification may be carried out through the following means:

I. Using the DA formula, check the inflows & outflows in detail.

II. Desk review/verification.

Verify the individual's current and past declaration including his/her spouse and dependents. The individual's DA history may also be checked.

III. Seeking clarification or additional information

Clarification or additional information may be sought from the covered person concerned when the information provided in his/her AD filed is not clear or complete.

IV. Collecting relevant documents

In order to authenticate/validate the individual's explanation/clarification, relevant documents may be sought if felt necessary during the process of verification.

4. Action on DA cases by the ADMD after verification.

After the verification of the DA cases, the ADMD shall either drop or propose for further action. Those DA cases that resulted due to system related errors and unintentional errors made by the users while filing their AD may be dropped while the rest may be proposed for further action to the Commission. If felt necessary and practical, the dropped cases may be asked to give written explanations for their lack of due diligence and carelessness in filing their AD to prevent the individuals from making the same errors in the future.

4.1 Guide to taking action on DA Cases

Drop, if:

1. The DA is triggered by errors such as declaration, system or typographical errors or;

2. There is no reasonable ground to pursue for further action (Reasonable ground is contingent on vulnerability of the covered person including his/her spouse by agency, designation, income level; and history of DA, complaints registered in ACC, cases investigated, etc.).

Further Action, if:

1. The covered person with DA including his/her spouse is vulnerable by agency and designation;
2. There is established DA after verification by ADMD against the individual in the past year(s)
3. The ACC has received and registered complaint(s) against the covered person.
4. Case(s) has been investigated or is ongoing against the covered person or his/her spouse.
5. The amount of DA is significant when compared to the declared income.

5. Reporting to Commission and Further actions

A report on the verification of the samples shall be prepared and presented to the Commission.

DRAFT

The Commission members shall declare CoI before taking any decision on the cases presented.The Commission shall review the report and act in accordance with the asset declaration rules in force. Disproportionate or unexplained assets and liabilities may entail further investigation. The information shall be published in the ACC's annual report to the parliament and may also be released to the media. Important and relevant information of the report shall be shared with relevant Divisions and Departments for necessary actions.

Further action shall include the following based on the vulnerability and significance of the established DA:

1. Record in the online AD system for future reference.
2. Get a written explanation from the covered persons concerned.
3. Referral for Intelligence and Surveillance to TSD.
4. Referral to DoI as an additional information, if complaint(s) against the covered person has already been qualified for investigation or investigation against the covered person is ongoing.

6. Implementation of the decision of the Commission

The ADMD shall implement the decision of the Commission. Cases that are referred for further action particularly referral to other departments or divisions within ACC shall be done so through the inter-office memo (Annexure 1) within one week of Commission decision.

7. Record in the System

The cases that are referred for further action by the Commission shall be recorded in the online ADS for record and reference.

8. General Application of the Protocol

This protocol shall be a guide to the ADMD in verifying the AD.

9. Revision of the Protocol

The framework/protocol is a dynamic process and shall be amended/improved based on the lessons learnt, changes in the ACAB 2011, ADS and the DA formula etc. and other evolving circumstances.

Minimum daily subsistence/utility deductions

Declarants need not declare their utility expenses. It shall be automatically determined by the system based on the total annual income (this shall not include the income from the sale of properties) declared by the declarant. The system will deduct the expenses as mentioned in the table below:

| Annual income | Daily subsistence deductions |
|---|---|
| Less than 250,000 | 30% |
| 250,000-500,000 | 25% |
| 500,001-1,000,000 | 20% |
| More than 1,000,001 | 15 |

The following basis/references have been used to determine the percentage for deducting daily subsistence (Utility) of different income category:

- Expenditure pattern on utilities in the previous declarations
- Expenditure on annual household consumption from National Statistics Bureau report 2012
- Rule 5 of Income Tax Act of the Kingdom of Bhutan 2011 (Fourth Edition, January 2017) shows the percentage of tax levied as per the annual income of an individual. For Personal Income Tax, the tax percentage increases as per the increase in the annual income. On the contrary, the percentage for the deduction of utility decreases as an increase in annual income.

| PIT (Annual Income) | Tax |

Rover Scouts

Activities:

1. Moral development: Some young adults continue to reason morally at a conventional level, i.e., they resolve moral dilemmas in terms of the expectations of something other than themselves.
2. Path finder- Design a project on integrity and reach out to the community
3. Messenger of peace

Community Based Scouting (CBS)

Activities:

1. Organize Educational and Awareness Campaigns
2. Volunteering in the Community Welfare/Development Project
3. Initiate Civic Education for rural youth
4. Organize Youth Engagement Programs in the Community
5. Creating change in your community- CBS can create powerful changes by identifying, monitoring, and fixing problems relating to your community. CBS can hold authorities to account, demand integrity, and insist on their rights to public services to create change.
6. Leadership- abiding to the Code of Conduct for Adult Leaders
