Topics to be discussed include tracing financial transactions and the use of polygraph tests, including advocacy regarding polygraphy to the RCoJ and OAG. The investigation report may note instances where individuals have declined to participate in polygraph testing. The use of polygraph tests may also be relevant for internal organizational purposes, such as within banks and similar institutions. For the CoRE Network, it is advisable to begin on a modest scale while allowing for future bilateral and trilateral forums. Engage Denis for training related to the CoRE Network and seek necessary support from stakeholders, both during the tenure of the current or subsequent committee. Collaboration with the Office of PACC of Thailand may facilitate progress on these initiatives. Additionally, participation in international meetings presents opportunities to connect with and establish networks among forum attendees.*	Noted.
